Manhattan Christian College

Always Faithful . . . Forever Victorious

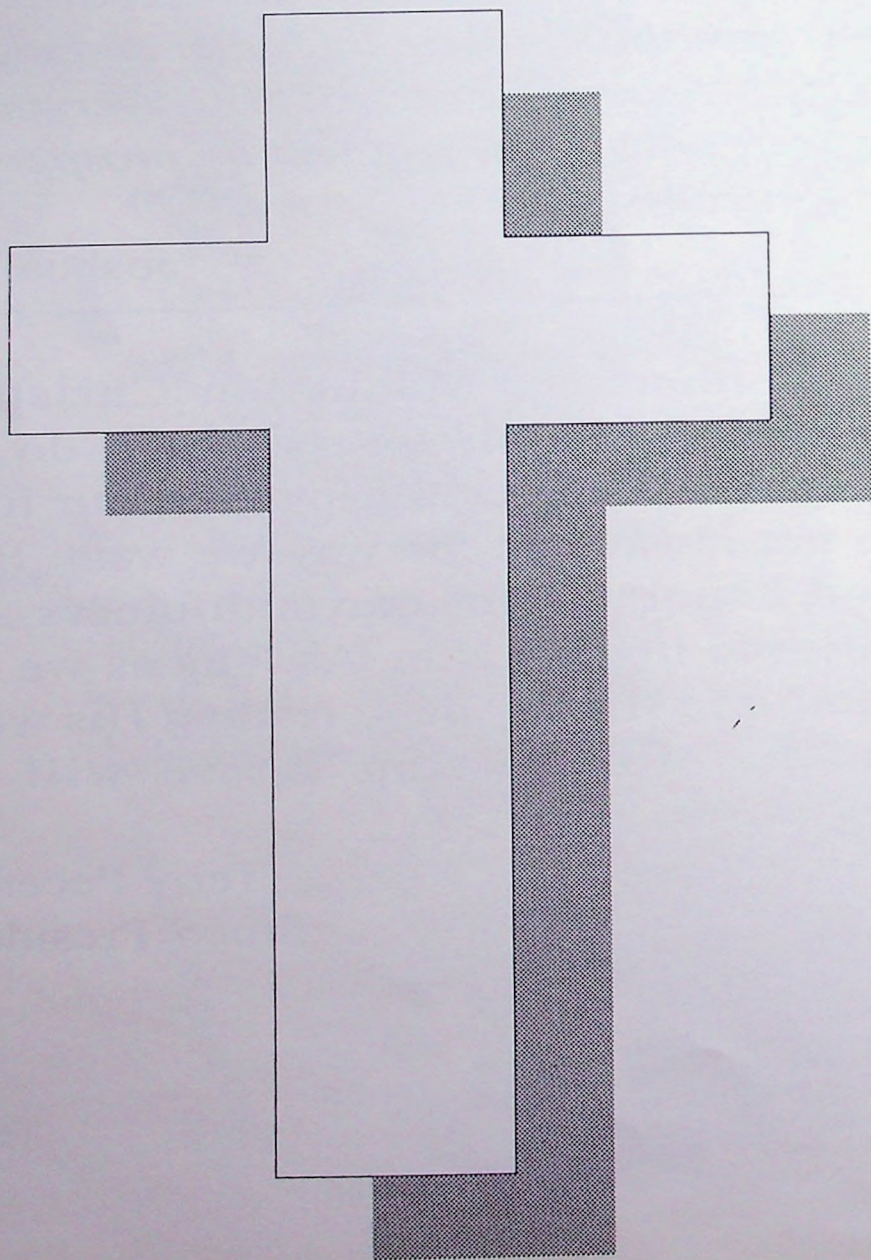

"Do not let this book of the law depart from your mouth; meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do everything written in it. Then you will be prosperous and successful."

Joshua 1:8

As students of Manhattan Christian College we are always striving to do the best we can for God. However, our lives do not always go the way we want. But, God honors us for our faithfulness and desire to live for Him. As long as we are faithful to Him by daily reading His word and carefully living it, we will be victorious.

Terri Pecenka
Stuco President

Activities

"This is the message we have heard from him and declare to you: God is light; in him there is no darkness at all. If we claim to have fellowship with him yet walk in the darkness, we lie and do not live by the truth. But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus, his Son, purifies us from all sin."

I John 1:5-7, NIV

Beginning of the Year

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

...and now right foot on green. Stretching across the mat, Charolette Wertz and Jeff Isaacs enjoy a game of twister at the Sock Hop. The Sock Hop was an activity sponsored by Stuco as an icebreaker for new students.

Okay, here's the secret to college. Doug Newton receives some advice from his father while standing in line at registration.

I'm not too sure about this...but I trust my group. Christi Miner and her group work together to build trust during Freshmen orientation.

The new Freshmen are no competition for these upperclassmen. Jason Whyte, Eric Eberhard, and Scott Thomson show the Freshmen what a laid-back college student looks like.

MCC's version of "Stupid Human Tricks." Caleb Murray is ready and waiting to catch Cap'n Crunch from Tracee Kinzle's nose at the Sock Hop.

It's time to go? I thought we just got here. Laurin and Sheri Hill enjoy a quiet time together at the All School Retreat. This retreat was held at Rock Springs Ranch.

Does she realize she's not driving a real car? During the Sock Hop Wendy Jarratt, Sarah Acciacca, and Michael Cabral hop into their pretend car and drive through Ned's Place.

So, Rabbi, how many pancakes do you think we could fit in a gopher hole? President Cable and Mr. Isom get away from the action at the All School Retreat and discuss important school business.

Van Drive

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

A short-term campaign begun in September has resulted in the purchase of two 15-passenger Ford vans for travel by MCC personnel.

The need was obvious. Last school year MCC vehicles transported students, faculty, staff, and other college representatives across the United States a total of 97,206 miles in 202 trips. Sixteen times all of the MCC vehicles were in use at the same time and 12 times additional vehicles were rented.

All members of the MCC family have been involved in the effort. First, a short-term campaign was approved by the trustees with their own $11,075 in personal commitments. Next, the faculty and staff made commitments totaling $5,500; the music department gave $1000 and Stuco gave $1000 (plus another $2000 at the end of the year). Student groups--Athletes, Camp Teams, and Triumphant Sound--contacted their alumni by mail and telephone to raise $3600. Volunteer student callers contacted other alumni to raise $4,551.

The men and women in student housing challenged one another to give as much money as possible, with the losing side becoming slaves for a day. (From these photos of Brandon Maxwell, Jory Garner, Chris Reed, and Dave VanDonge we can see who won the challenge that raised $1,375.) The senior class paid to have the college logo printed on one side of each van.

Barn Party/ Prayer Walk

by Jill Ballard and Brad Richardson

Swing your partner. Eric Ward and Rhonda DeVinney show us how to really swing at the Barn Party. Each year the Barn Party is held at the Swiharts' barn. The Swiharts did a lot of work in restoring their barn this year. The Blues Brothers live. Aaron Martin and Jarad Garren model their unique Barn Party attire.

Bobbin' for goldfish? Joel Dyer was one of many who tried their luck at bobbin' for apples, marshmallows, and goldfish.

The student spiritual life committee is a PUSHy bunch. These people are PUSHing MCC students to practice what they are learning in class, PUSHing events that honor God and focus on encouragement, and PUSHing the power of prayer.

For the third year the committee has planned a national prayer walk. This year it is named PUSH--an acronym for Praying Until Something Happens. It is a 24-hour prayer vigil among the Christian colleges across the United States. "Our goal is to unite with other students in Christian colleges around the country as well as the Christian organizations at Kansas State University in prayer for our nation, our colleges, and for one another," says Bobby Graham, senior in educational ministry and chair of the committee.

This year the committee took a step beyond its usual letter of invitation to other college groups. Members created a brochure that explains the goals of the program, presents program ideas for campus events, and asks for participation in the annual event. Eight colleges accepted the invitation to join MCC in this special day of prayer.

President's Appreciation Dinner

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

I wonder when they will call my name. Several MCC students wait to receive awards on behalf of churches honored for being one of the top ten financial supporters of Manhattan Christian College.

Would you like some too? Jeff and Julie Aenk, and Tim Dykes laugh while Caleb Murray offers to share his food at the President's Appreciation Dinner.

Terrific Twosome! For the first time ever the Employee of the Year award was given to two people, Rob and Louise Kirkpatrick.

I bet you want a plaque like mine. Terri Pecenka shows the plaque she accepted on behalf of Westlink CC for being a LEAD sponsor church. Central CC, Wichita; Northland CC, Topeka; and Johnson County CC, Overland Park were also recognized.

How did Ahren get so tall? Ahren Cahoon watches Mark Webb accept an award for one of the top ten recruiting churches.

What is that in your salad? Laurin and Sheri Hill sit with other staff and students from MCC during the dinner.

Each year, President Cable hosts an appreciation dinner to honor churches and individuals who support MCC. Several special honors are given. This year's honorees are:

Christmas Events

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

Are these the faces of good little boys and girls? Mike Kelly, Tracee Kinzle, Charity Chesnut, Ryan Sperry, Kara Foster, Heidi and Jason Whyte await the rest of their dinner at the Christmas Banquet.

Give Felicity some egg nog and she'll be happy too. Chip Wagner, Joy Joslin, and Felicity Dunagan enjoy visiting after the Christmas Banquet.

A Double Whammy of motherly advice. Matt Clayton takes advantage of the Christmas Open House to get to know Barbara Tate and Arletta Paddock.

When Bobby talks... After selecting the perfect Christmas tree Bobby Graham directs students in trimming the tree and decorating the Campus Center.

The Latest Brazilian fashion. Professor Rusty Thornley models an original design by MCC students at the Christmas party sponsored by the Senior class.

I hope when I'm older, people will make me Christmas cards. Amy Ewoldsen, Jamie Wolff, Julie Thompson, and Maya Needham prepare Christmas cards to be delivered to the nursing homes.

Many people around the world celebrate this day as the special time in which a fat man dressed in a suit brings gifts to all the children. This mythical character is a fine example of love. But God demonstrates His own love for us in this, that "while we were still sinners, Christ died for us." (Romans 5:8) How much more love can one show than this? God set the standard. No one has, or ever will, come close to matching or surpassing it. So, on this day, don't be confused about the true meaning of Christmas. It isn't the gifts brought to children by Saint Nick. It isn't even the gifts brought to Jesus by the wise men. It's the gift of Jesus.

Don't get caught up in the material aspects of Christmas, but focus on the spiritual meaning. 1 John 2:15 says, "Do not love the world or anything in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him." I don't know about you, but I would be terrified to know that the love of the Father is not in me!

Remember the true meaning of Christmas more than once a year. Understand what love has been shown to all humanity, and pass it on. This is how we know what love is: Jesus laid down his life for us. And we ought to give our lives for others.

Nathan Burton

This devotion was one of those written by students in the Written Composition class taught by Carol Younger. The devotions were compiled into a book that was distributed to students, faculty, and staff.

Which one is Santa's elf? Doug Bean and Dr. Paddock assist Santa Claus (Ned Price) in distributing gifts to special people.

Woman's World

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

What's a man doing at Woman's World? Mr. Deckard (shown) and Dr. Paddock attract a crowd at the early morning Bible studies. 190 women attend the 6:30 a.m. sessions.

Joy in generous scholarships. Mandy Parrott and Brenda Baker are recipients of the Woman's World scholarships. (Charity Chesnut and Natalie Brattin were also awarded scholarships.)

Practical, pertinent workshops prove popular. Woman's World offers a wide variety of informative and helpful workshops on topics from prayer to family communication.

Joy! Joy! Joy! The main speaker for the weekend, Sandy Bradshaw, emphasizes that joy is founded in a right relationship with God.

And now help me welcome . . . Kyla Easterday introduces a workshop leader. Many MCC women students serve in this capacity. If the thought of dinner has you in despair, you should attend this workshop about assembling 30-50 main dish entrees in just one day.

MCC 's very own bouncers. Jamie Venardos and Tracee Kinzle guard the doors until dinner is ready to be served.

This was a wonderful time of learning and fellowship. There were so many wonderful workshops. I wish there had been more time in the day to go to all of them. It will be great next year too. This was my first time and I'm coming back! Thank you all for all your work.

Thank you for organizing this conference. I so appreciated all your hard work, time, and effort. I really try to take home and share the boost and joy and fellowship I received from this.

This year's Woman's World conference speakers were wonderful. The workshops were very encouraging and uplifting.

Absolutely fantastic! Very uplifting, fun, satisfying, inspirational. Looking forward to next year.

Easter Pageant

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

People gather to hear Jesus teach. Jason Price, Hannah Stevens, Marilyn Huffman, and Amy Ewoldsen sit at Jesus' feet and listen to him teach.

Shear terror! Michael Kizzee gets his beard trimmed before the pageant.

Lighting up the room is Terri Pecenka. The behind-the-scenes workers are essential to the success of the show.

Let the children come to me. Michael Kizzee welcomes the children.

Going against the grain. Bill Furuya and Ned Price take a break from their roles as Barabbas and a Pharisee.

Angels watching over me! Taking a much needed break from the pressure of rehearsal, this group forms an unlikely combination. (Can anyone spot Caleb Murray in this picture?)

What do you think he's really listening to? Pete Miele is another important person behind the scenes. He supervises the sound and communicates with the stage crew backstage.

A family trade. A young Jesus, Drew Horton, learns carpentry skills from Joseph, Tim Dykes.

Spring Cleaning / Senior Banquet

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

He loves me, he loves me not! Terri Pecenka digs up bulbs for replanting. As president, Terri led Stuco in preparing for the spring cleaning project.

Watch me; this is how you're suppose to do it. Jamie Venardos demonstrates the appropriate way to dig holes, while Destine White watches.

How many students does it take to plant a flower? Eric Sanford, Tracee Kinzle, and Jeremy Eubanks offer their advice as Tami Davies does the dirty work.

Whistle while you work. Students keep busy while building an edging around the flower bed by the Campus Center.

You just wait, I'll get you back! Genesis Ferch reacts to John Poulson and Rick Wright's prediction for her.

I'm glad you could make it! Maria Darsie and Rhonda DeVinney greet each other at the Senior Banquet. Maria was one of several students who finished their course work in December and returned for graduation.

I'd like to thank all the little people. LEAD graduate Linda Hubbard captivates the audience with her professional presentation.

Only 36 more days! Pam Lee and Kevin Segal stop making wedding plans long enough to enjoy themselves at the Senior Banquet.

Skip Day

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

Sitting this one out. Renee Price, Cory Jurgens, and Eric Eberhard watch the action of the softball game.

We're not just fishers of men. Doug Bean and Joel Dyer spend their skip day by trying to catch their supper.

Mobile Ministry. Jason Whyte preaches the Word to Ben Grogg, Tami Davies, and Lance Coffman.

Where's the rest of my team? Terry Pritchett waits for the rest of the players to show up after the game location was changed.

Say cheese! Craig Dodge and Hollie Langlais enjoy a cool soda and each other's company.

Soakin' up some sun. Melanie Allen and Amy Ewoldsen take advantage of the warm weather.

Just hangin' around. Jack Lundgren takes advantage of skip day to relax and enjoy some free time.

The latest fashion in headgear. Tired of playing softball, Renee Carter finds a new use for her glove.

Spring Banquet

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

And for the appetizer, I would like . . . Craig Dodge, Tami Gill, Ted Breitenstein, and Destine White finish their salads while reading about their characters.

Tilt your head a little to the left. Shawna Eubanks looks up from reading her mystery booklet before the dinner begins.

I know something you don't know. Jeremy Eubanks thinks he has figured out who set the fire.
No, Dr. Caulley, you shampoo before you condition. Kristi Wilson listens to Dr. Caulley as he shares clues about his character.

The camera gets its turn on the photographer. Holly Langlais and Eric Ward take a break from the banquet. Eric photographed the evening's events.

I should be making speeches in the REAL Hollywood! Brian Rixon gives the instructions about how to play the mystery game.

I can't believe I'm the one who stole the test answers! Michael Pegues reads to find out who the culprit really is.

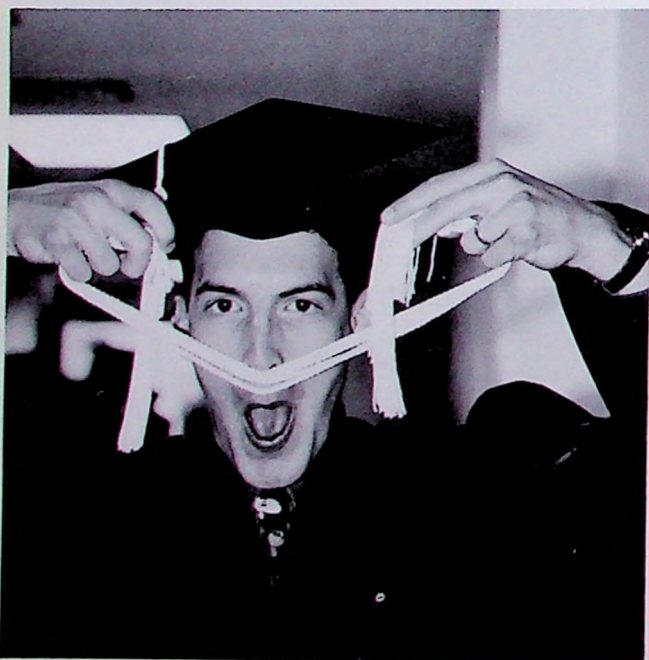

The Spring Banquet is a formal dinner at the Wareham Opera House in Manhattan. It is planned and carried out by the Freshmen and Junior class officers, together with their class sponsors. This year's theme was "A Ticket to the Stars." For the entertainment, each table played a Hollywood mystery game. To close the evening, everyone enjoyed a slide show that was put together by Bobby Graham.

A tradition at the banquet is to honor students for leadership, service, and outside ministries. Six awards are given in those three categories, with one female and one male recipient each. The President's Award is given to students who have demonstrated outstanding leadership on campus. This year's recipients were Jeremy Eubanks and Tracee Kinzle. The Servant's Heart Award is awarded to students who have shown a gift of service in their relationships with faculty, staff, and other students. Barbara Tate and Scott Wagner were given this award. The Young Crusader Award is given to students who have been active in an off-campus ministry. This year, the awards went to Kara Foster and James Slack.

Graduation

by Brad Richardson and Jill Ballard

Jeff Isaacs or Mr. Sullivan, you make the call. Jeff Isaacs provides some comic relief for the anxious graduates before the ceremony begins.

It took some time, but it was time well spent. While working a full-time job at MCC, Barbara Tate earned her second degree. She receives her diploma from President Cable.

Though it's hard to let you go . . . Kathleen Demorest and Jill Ballard hug, knowing that they will be friends forever!

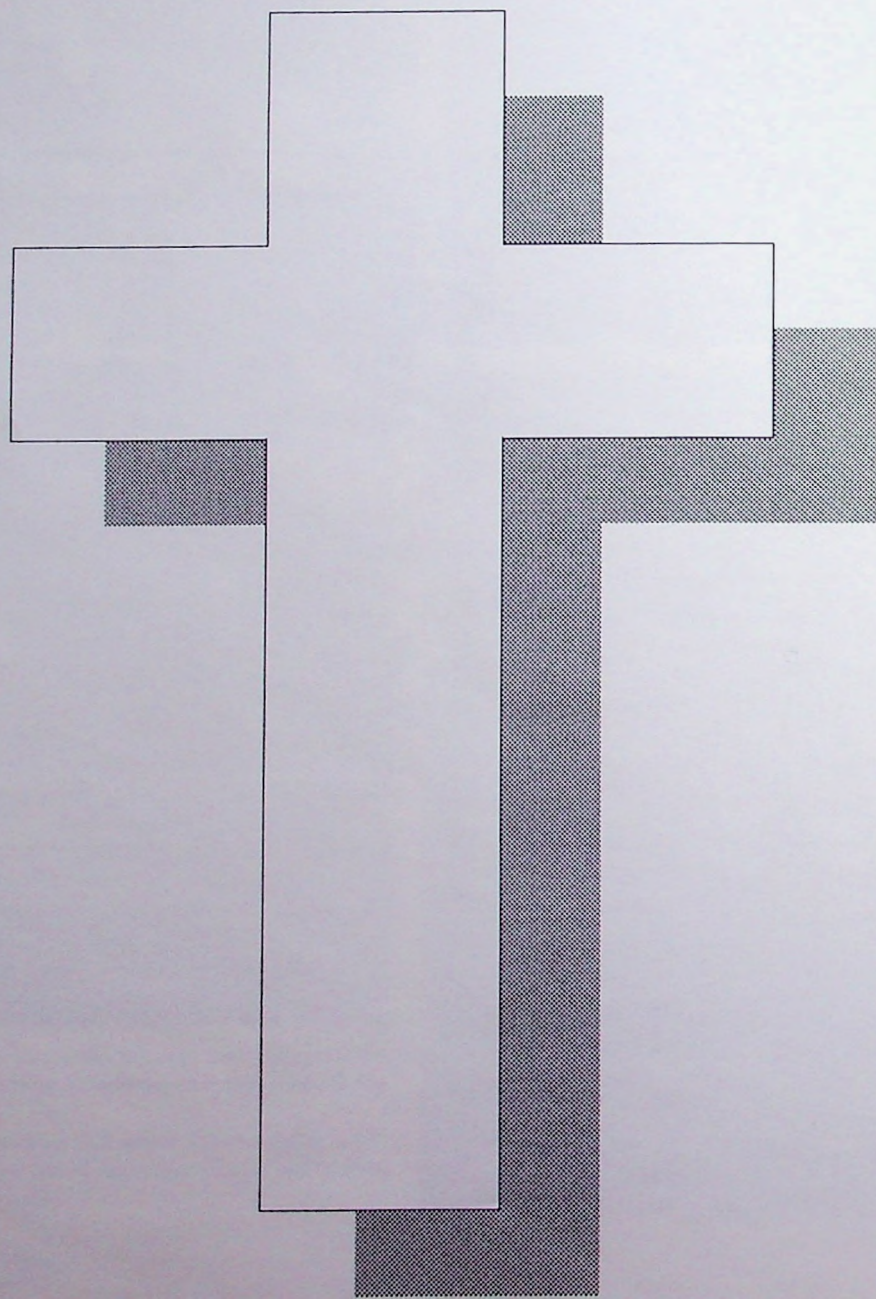

Round number two. Tracy Kirkpatrick receives her bachelor of science degree in management and ethics as one of the first LEAD graduates. Tracy received her associates degree from MCC in 1994.

I hope I didn't miss my turn to speak. Dr. Caulley, Mrs. Swihart, and Dr. Paddock look through their programs. All three professors have a part in this year's graduation.

It's over! It's finally over! Missie Gautsch and Julie Aenk congratulate each other on receiving their degrees.

Academics

"Therefore, prepare your minds for action; be self-controlled; set your hope fully on the grace to be given you when Jesus Christ is revealed."

I Peter 1:13, NIV

The Dynamic Duo! Jerry Briix and Richard Hathaway are always faithful in helping students in the library.

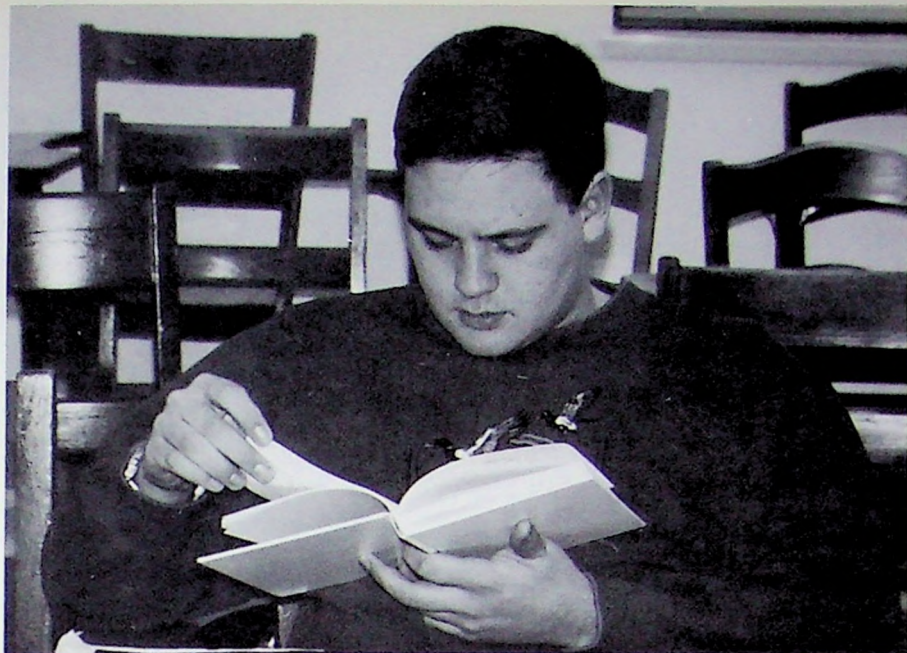

MCC recognizes local Phari-see students! L&T students were placed in research teams to study social groups back in the days of Jesus.

Oh, no! I forgot we had to remember that. Terry Thorson looks bewildered in class at MCC.

Oh, no! I've forgotten my A B C's; it must be my medication. Mandy Parrott looks dismayed while sitting in Intro to CE.

The book I want is never here! Natalie Brattin looks hard for a book she needs to finish a paper. Many assignments require diligent research in the MCC library as well as the KSU library.

Ah, hah! We're telling Mandy that you are cramming for another Greek test! Michael Claar is one of seven students enrolled in Beginning Greek.

Preach it, Brother! (Franklin) Scott Caldwell practices his expository preaching skills. This is one of the hardest types of sermon to prepare.

"Traditional classroom life is an awesome opportunity to expand the horizons of one's mind. It should not be taken lightly; pursue it eagerly as it affords the development of meaningful relationships which are invaluable in the future. It also affords the processing of information that is useful in a variety of situations toward ministry. But in all earnestness, traditional classroom life is cool! Cool! COOL!"

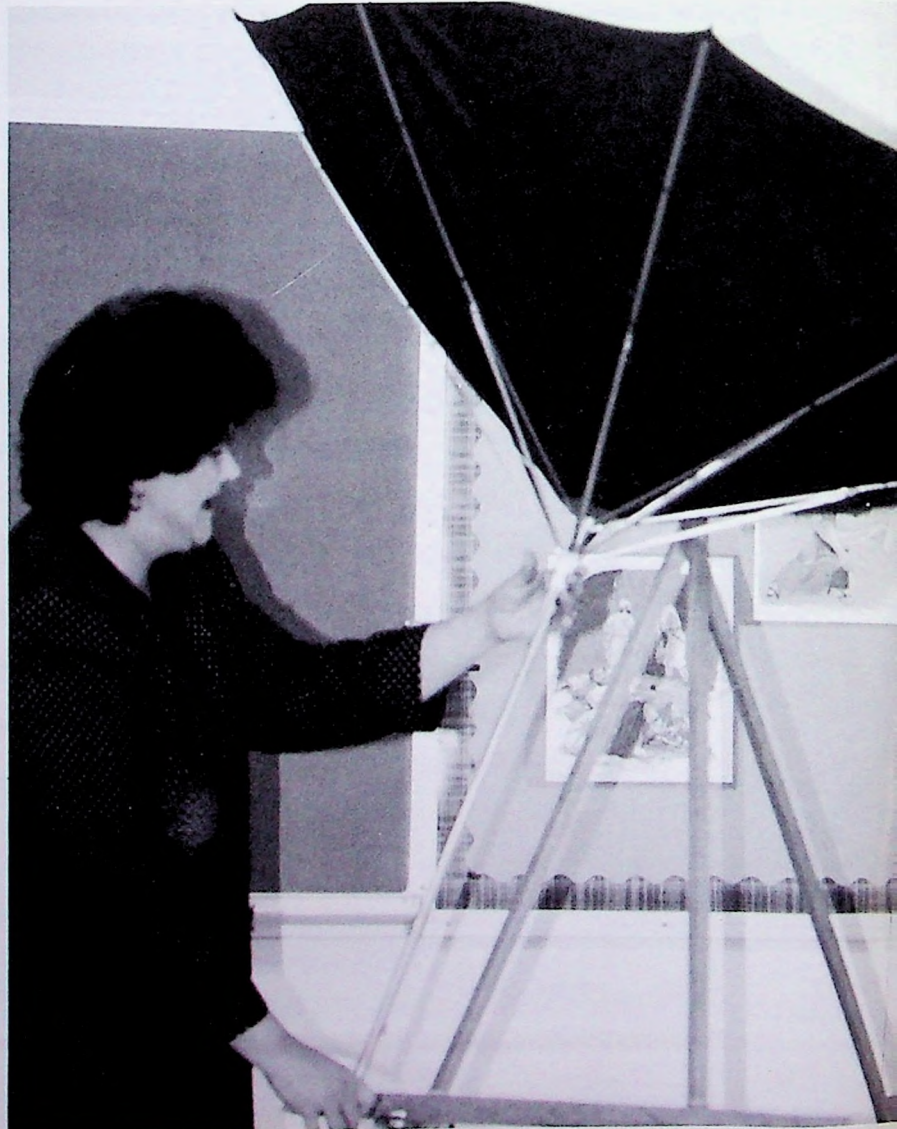

--Jim Slack

This is good! Martha Miller, an instructor in LEAD, checks Dora Gerlaugh's research project paper.

LEAD classes meet at night to accommodate the needs of people with full-time jobs who want to go to college.

A spoonful of sugar makes the medicine go down! Sherry Rhoades had trouble with her umbrella when she tried to be Mary Poppins at the beginning of her presentation of her research project on training for nannies.

Way to go! You did it! Graduation is a big day to LEAD graduates. To hold a job, maintain family life, and go to school until graduation is quite an accomplishment.

Study, study, study! Peggy Beddall works hard on her LEAD research paper. Research is an important part of the program.

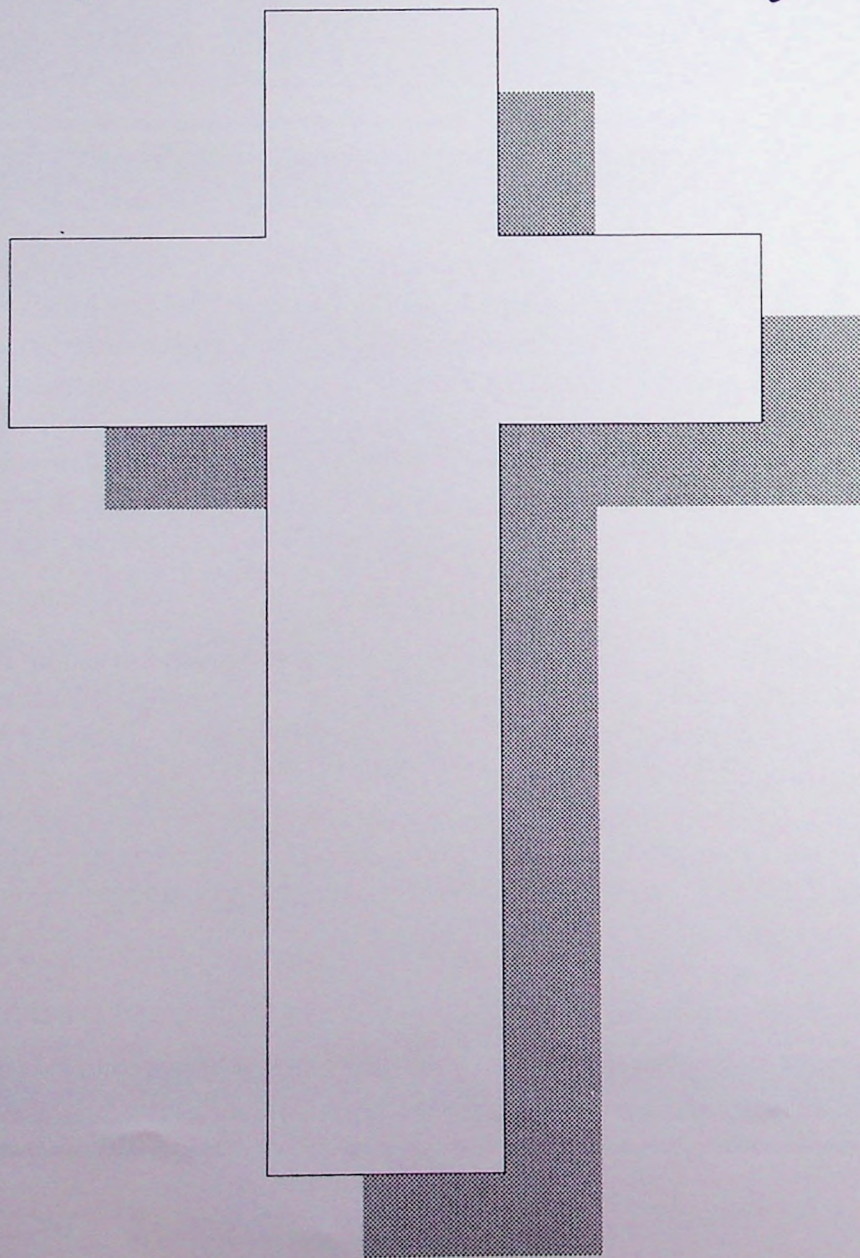

Manhattan Christian College has incorporated into its educational opportunities a degree-completion program called LEAD (Leadership Education for Adult Development). LEAD is an accelerated, non-traditional degree program designed for students who have previously attended post-secondary institutions and earned approximately 60 college credits. It provides working adults an opportunity to complete their undergraduate degree in about eighteen and a half months by attending class four hours one night per week. The degree earned is a Bachelor of Science in Management and Ethics (29 hours in Management and 18 hours in Ethics).

LEAD is "steppin out." We have groups in Wichita, Kansas City, and Topeka in addition to our on-campus groups. Three groups are meeting in Wichita, one in Topeka, one in Kansas City, and four in Manhattan to total over 117 students. Alpha and Beta are our first graduates (1996).

We plan to start four groups in Fall, 1996--one each in Manhattan, Wichita, Kansas City, and Topeka. We are open to new locations if a congregation or business wants to start a group.

Adult education at Manhattan Christian College is exciting and rewarding.

Student Spiritual Life

"Do not let this Book of the Law depart from your mouth; meditate on it day and night, so that you may be careful to do everything written in it. Then you will be prosperous and successful."

Joshua 1:8, NIV

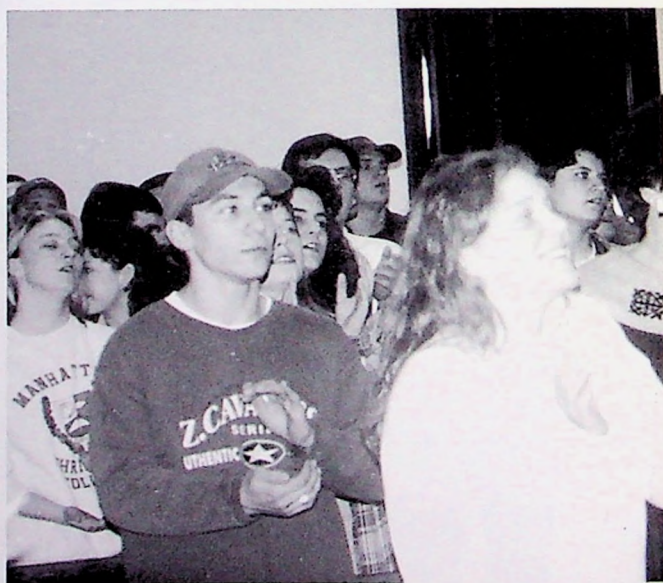

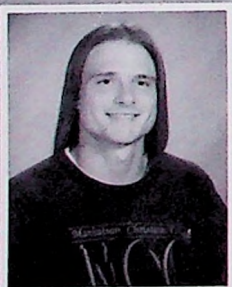

Amen! Hallelujah! All-school devotions provide another opportunity for students and faculty to praise God and receive a challenge from God's Word. The Fall all-school devotions featured Rick Lowry as the speaker and a communion service led by Dr. Cornwall.

Lean on me, when you're not strong and I'll be your friend....Michelle Barber, Laurie Hoelscher, Jarad Garren, and Chip Wagner all sing to the beat to lead chapel worship. Chapel worship is done on a volunteer basis with students leading chapel for one week out of each month.

"My favorite part of chapel is the singing. The people at MCC know how to give their hearts to the Lord in worship and I like being a part of that," says Heath Hostetler.

Are these two really brother and sister? Maya and Lano Needham worship in two totally different ways. Chapel gives each student a chance to break loose and get close to God in any way they choose. It's their time to just praise God for what he's done in their lives.

I, oh I, love to sing and worship! A group of MCC students are captured on film praising God during a Tuesday chapel service. Chapel services are held twice a week and are attended by all students.

Chapel

by: Sarah R. Froelich

The students and faculty gather, the music leaders take their positions, and then you hear, "Okay, let's stand up and praise the Lord!" This is how every chapel service begins. The two things that change each time are the way the students and faculty worship and the people who lead the worship service. Chapel is held twice a week and tends to be a time when students have a chance to forget about studies for an hour and just praise God. "I enjoy chapel because it allows me to see students and faculty in a different light and I get to come together with friends for a common cause," said freshman Esther Garza. Speakers in chapel come in all varieties. Fellow students, staff, faculty, ministers, missionaries, and leaders from K-State have all had the privilege of sharing what God has done in their lives. All in all chapel is just simply a time to give back to God just a little of what he has given us.

No, Devin, you're supposed to sing--not stare! Doug Newton, April and Devin Wendt, and Ron Brown all sing to the Lord a new song during chapel. Staff and faculty attend chapel to worship God and also to provide a good example for the students.

Giving God the glory! Ben Henwood, Jarrad Garren, Chip Wagner, and Ben Perry all share a group prayer before going on to lead chapel worship. Prayer is a major part of the MCC campus because they know without God nothing is possible.

Devos/ Bible Studies/ D-Groups

Study, laughter, and new friendships are all parts of Devos and Bible Studies (D-Groups). On Monday nights each dorm has a devotion followed by small Bible studies. During Devos dorm parents make any necessary announcements and someone brings a devotional. The Bible studies are led by D-Group leaders. These leaders are upper-classmen who work with a group of freshmen or a mixed group of freshmen and sophomores.

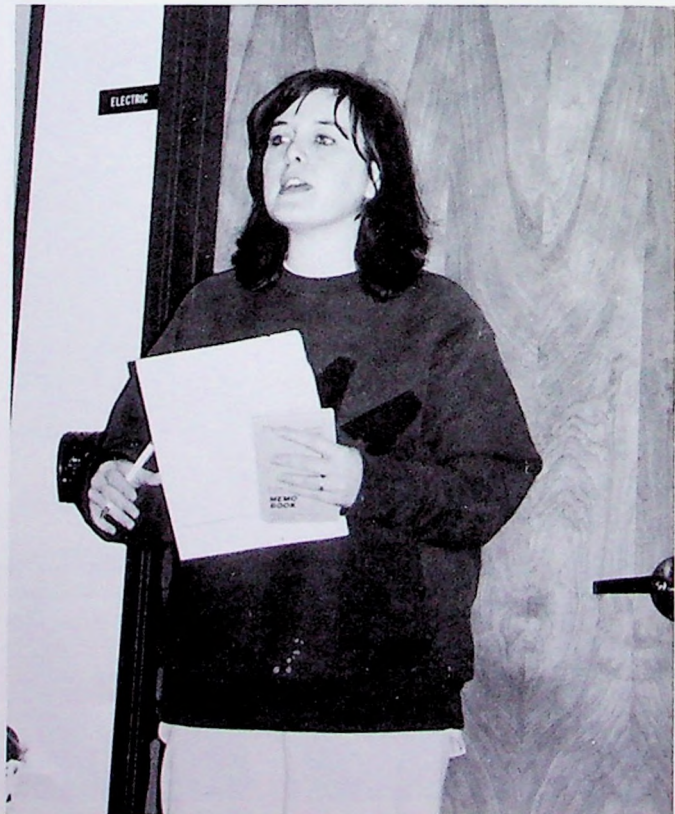

Accountability is stressed so that we Christians don't fail in our walk with Christ. Some Johnson Hall men who attended Promise Keepers started a morning prayer group to keep themselves accountable to one another.

Oooh! This grass feels really grassy!! John O'Neal, Joel Dyer, Doug Bean, and Ben Grogg all cheese for the camera when dorm devos took them ice blocking.

We've bonded, yes, we have. Tracee Kinzlee and Yvonne Kafka share a big hug. Tracee led a D-Group of freshman women every Monday night.

Attention, Attention!! Lisa Smith tries desperately to get the attention of all the women for announcements as part of her Monday responsibilities.

Jill, you didn't tell us you are leaving. Jill Stukenholt, Charlotte Wertz, Cindy Armstead, Amy Ewoldsen, and Natalie Brattin sit around, talking in their Monday night D-Group.

Uh, oh! Esther got caught doing homework after devotions...Esther Garza studies hard after praising the Lord in Kenoyer devo night. Devotional groups usually meet from 10:30 p.m. until around 11:30 p.m. leaving late night studies a must.

"I enjoyed my group. We usually were the last ones through, but I never regretted it. Tracee was a great leader and she lived in walking distance. So if we ever needed to talk, she was willing. I have also gained friendships that will last a lifetime."

Sarah Froelich

A man that hath friends must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.

Proverbs 18:24

Christian Action

Christian Action is a program developed at MCC to give students a chance to use the skills they are learning at MCC out in the world. Each semester every MCC student is required to have Christian Action ministry in order to graduate. For each student this service can be different because each tends to choose an activity that feels comfortable. The service can range from MCC's Prison Ministry to Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan. Sarah Froelich who chose the latter says, "I think Christian Action is a great opportunity for MCC students. I had a 'little sister' with whom I have been able to build a great relationship. This could possibly lead to her and her family hearing the gospel for the first time."

Hit the road, TS, and have lots of great success! Triumphant Sound is a group of students who travel throughout the semester to churches and organizations presenting short programs to glorify God and praise His name!

You will be in our thoughts and prayers. In the last chapel of the year faculty, staff, and students send out with prayer the graduates and students who will be serving God this summer in a special way.

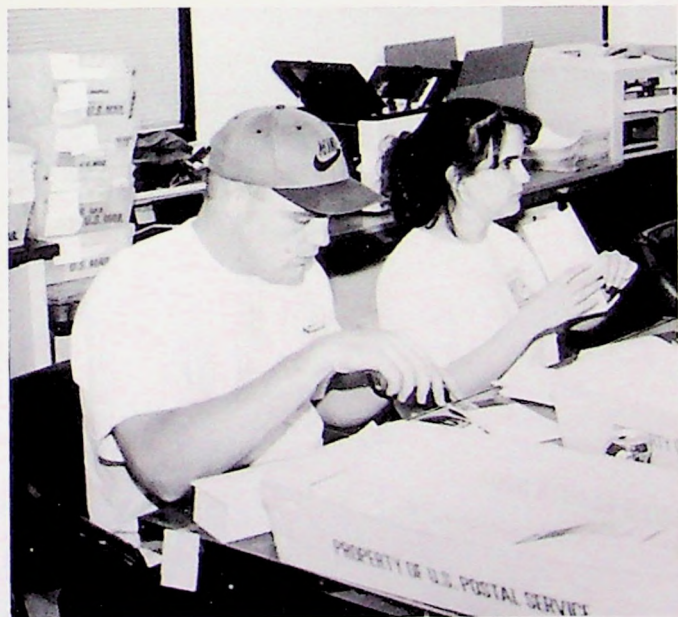

Sorry, no quote today. We're hard at work! Christi Miner and Yvonne Kafka work hard with Ad Team. Ad-Team serves at college events and local church events for junior and senior high students.

I not only met a new friend, but I also got a new pet. Esther Garza and her "little sister" Devida pose for a picture while petting their new friend. Esther was matched with Devida in March and has really enjoyed getting to know her and her family.

While learning a new card trick, Sarah Froelich and her little sister Amber Blythe are caught on film. Sarah was matched with Amber in October. "I really enjoyed being a role model to someone younger than myself. I learned a lot from her and I hope we continue to be friends," said Sarah.

Hey, this is good practice for stuffing wedding invitations! Clint Stoppel and Lisa Ewoldsen work on mail room duties. The Mail Team works hard behind the scenes, doing more than most people realize.

Prison Ministry

Prison Ministry takes a lot of work and dedication—which stimulate one's appetite. Mandy Parrott, Anita Lewis, and Chip Wagner all look ready to eat. During the team's stay in Jefferson City Anne and Doug Dorris provide food and shelter.

"Keep on loving each other as brothers. Do not forget to entertain strangers, for by so doing some people have entertained angels without knowing it. Remember those in prison as if you were their fellow prisoners and those who are mistreated as if you yourselves are suffering." Hebrews 13:1-3.

This is one of the purposes for Prison Ministry's going out to reach those that are willing to listen. "When I went into prison for the first time, I realized I was just like the inmates. They sinned just as I have sinned. God loves everybody unconditionally. I had every right to be in prison too. The only difference is that I didn't get caught by the world for my sins, but they did. You know, God caught me," explains Anita Lewis.

This ministry involves traveling, staying in others' homes, and overcoming fears of prisoners. By doing so, one is able to touch lives that could be considered untouchable.

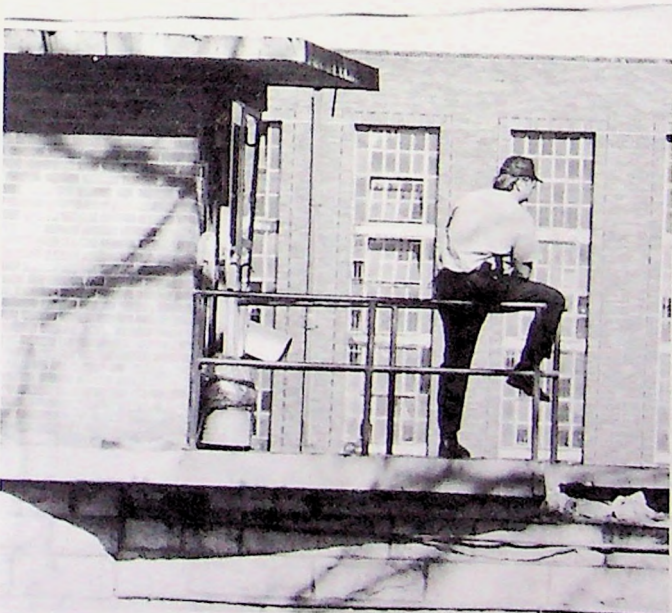

Is there ever an end? Rusty Thornley, Chip Wagner, and Terry Pritchett walk down a hallway in the prison. "As we walk by the cafeteria the smell can only be described as muddy, rotten eggs."

These books make a great seat. Terry Pritchett is involved in the normal Saturday morning's activity when the men go cell-to-cell while the women stay at the chaplain's house to pray.

We were once like this, but Christ unlocked the doors when He died on the cross. Prison Ministry team members pose for a picture before entering the prison to witness to people who need Christ.

Just try to break out of this building! Outside Jefferson City Correctional center a guard on duty is waiting patiently for someone to test his skills.

"It excites me to know that when society turns its back on the prisoners, that the prisoners still have the desire to know and learn about an unseen God."

Mandy Parrott

"The inmates in prison are there for sins they have committed. It is humbling to know that in God's eyes I am just as guilty."

Anita Lewis

Student Spiritual Life

by Sarah Froelich

Student Spiritual Life Committee consists of a group of students gathering to provide fellowship and spiritual revival for MCC students. Members lead activities such as all-school devotions, Christmas tree trimming for the campus center, the 24 hour PUSH, and See You at the Bell Tower. This group may not be seen as much as some of the others, but their involvement is just as important if not more.

Eric I never knew you were so organized! Bobby Graham (chairman), Mandy Parrott, and Eric Sanford work on the Student Spritual Life calendar. S.S.L. organizes activities throughout the year to bring the campus closer in spirit.

Blow harder, Yvonne. It can't run over! Yvonne Kafka, and Pam Lee are part of Student Spritual Life. As a reward for their hard work through they year they are enjoying a pizza party.

Supporting one another in prayer, MCC students turn out for See You at the Bell Tower. Students across the nation join together on this day to pray for our nation and Christian leaders.

Prayer is a big part of any Christian student's every day life whether it be for peace or for our fellow students across the street. Student Spritual Life led several activities that involved prayer.

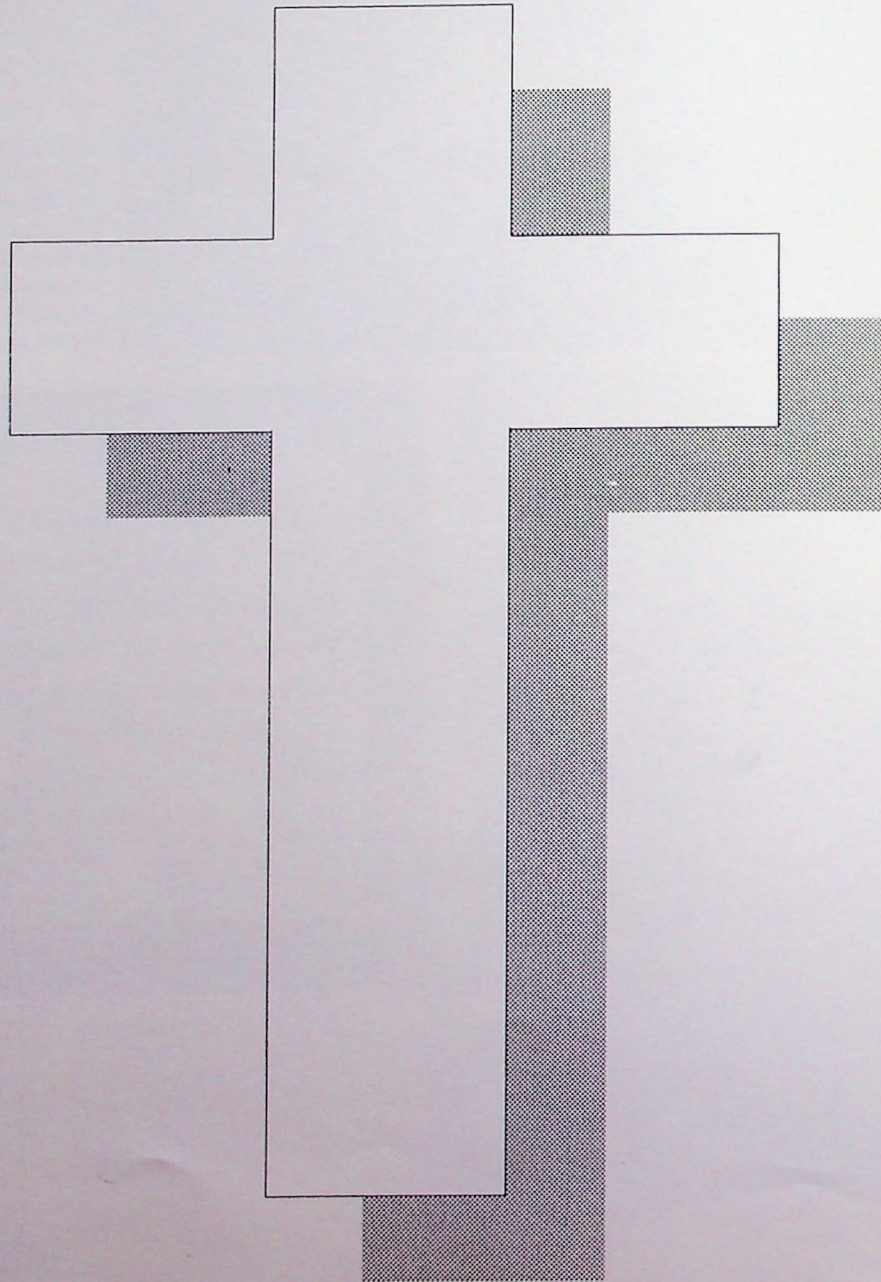

"You are the world's light--a city on a hill, glowing in the night for all to see. Don't hide your light! Let it shine for all; let your good deeds glow for all to see, so that they will praise your heavenly Father."

Matthew 5:14, 15

"The body is a unit, though it is made up of many parts; and though all its parts are many, they form one body. So it is with Christ."

Camp Team

by Jill Ballard and Brad Richardson

An important recruiting arm for the Admissions Department is the Camp Team program. Many students apply each year for this coveted summer outreach ministry. This year eleven students are representing MCC on three different teams captained by Charity Chesnut, Amy Seehorn, and Scott Thomson.

Traveling with Charity are John O'Neal, Eric Sanford, and Jamie Venardos.

Serving with Amy are Ben Henwood, and Jennifer Thornbro.

Working with Scott are Matt Glenn, Yvonne Kafka, and Maya Needham.

Tele-Team

by Jill Ballard and Brad Richardson

Another vital recruiting program is Tele-Team. The purpose of this group is to stay in touch with prospective students. Callers telephone high school juniors and seniors who have shown an interest in MCC through conventions, camps, Bible Bowl tournaments, campus visits, and high school campus events.

People eligible for work study can apply for this position. Callers are selected for their telephone personalities.

The Student Council is a very active student government body elected each year by the students. The council meets regularly to conduct business pertaining to student life. Members of the council are appointed to serve on several of the student committees of the college. This year's elected officials are:

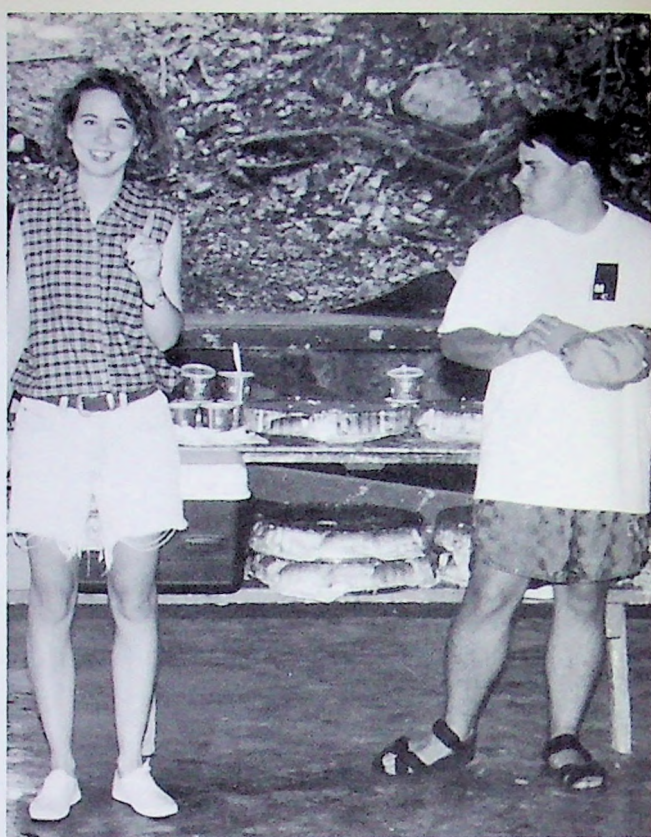

President - Terri Pecenka

Vice President - Tracee Kinzle

by Jill Ballard and Brad Richardson

Deadlines, croppers, ads, picas, captions . . . All of these words may be foreign to some, but to the yearbook staff they are very familiar. They are all part of the process of creating a yearbook. There are many steps involved in publishing a yearbook. The first two steps--deciding the yearbook contents and designing the cover--are done by the staff as a whole. The rest of the steps--choosing layouts, taking photos, selecting photos, writing stories and captions, entering layouts and copy into computer, editing and proofreading, and pasting the finished page onto a mounting board are done by individuals.

First Class Mail Team

by Jill Ballard and Brad Richardson

First Class Mail Team is important to MCC. It may seem as if members are just stuffing and stamping hundreds of envelopes. But many of those envelopes are going to the college's faithful supporters--to let them know about the needs of the college. Some of them contain personal notes of thanks from team members for contributions; others contain notes of concern about prayer requests sent in to the college. Members also telephone contributors. "We could not do the mailings without the Mail Team," testifies Tracy Kirkpatrick.

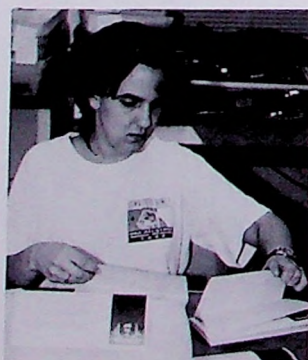

PROPERTY OF U.S. POSTAL SERVICE

Dear Heath,

Greetings in Jesus' name!

... response to the gracious note we received recently from you. Thank you for your expressions of appreciation to Crossroads Christian Church in regard to our support of Manhattan Christian College.

Sincerely in Christ,
Wayne A. Pittman

Serving this year under Tracy Kirkpatrick's direction are Scott Bingham, Greg Bringhurst, Nancy Curtis, Micah Cusik, Dave Downing, Lisa Ewoldsen, Michelle Goebel, Barb Griswold, Heath Hostetler, Christiane Marshall, Michael Pegues, Renee Price, Clint Stoppel, Jamie Venardos, Destine White, and Tina Williams.

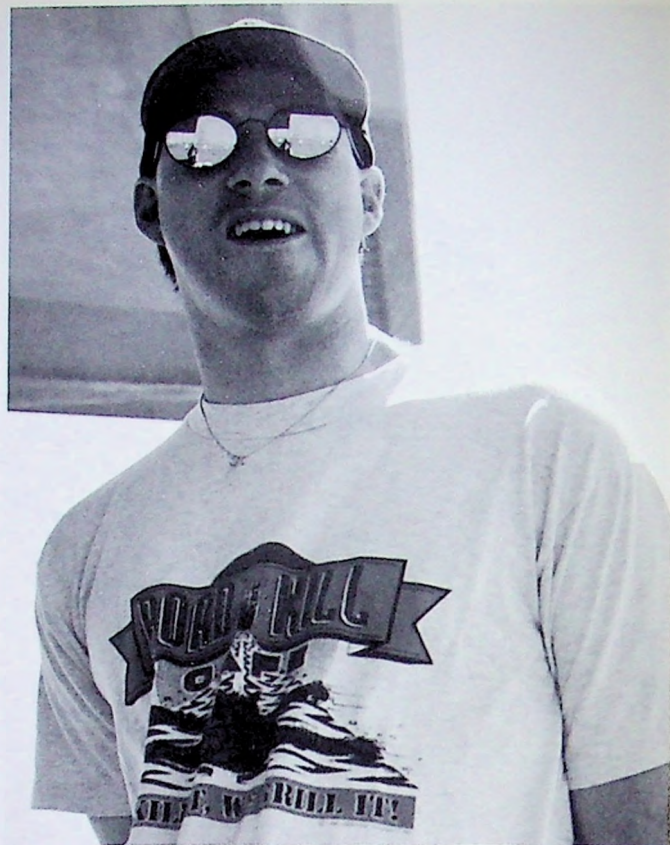

Admissions

The Admissions Department, headed by John Poulson, is involved in all kinds of activities to reach high school students. John and his two admissions counselors, Jeff Davis and Scott Jenkins, visit with potential students at college fairs, youth groups, and in their homes. With the help of the Ad-Team, they also plan and lead off-campus events and on-campus events, like Fall Fest, Crusader Day, Crusade '96, and Middle School Weekend.

Davinna Beale directs the support staff, Jeremy Eubanks, Pam Lee, and Joann Callen while April Wendt provides financial aid counseling and advice.

The Admissions Department is responsible for many tasks that occur behind the scenes. For example TeleTeam, Camp Team, and Ad-Team are all trained and directed by department personnel. Department members send displays and information to churches, receive high school visitors, and schedule tours for the music groups.

Ad-Team

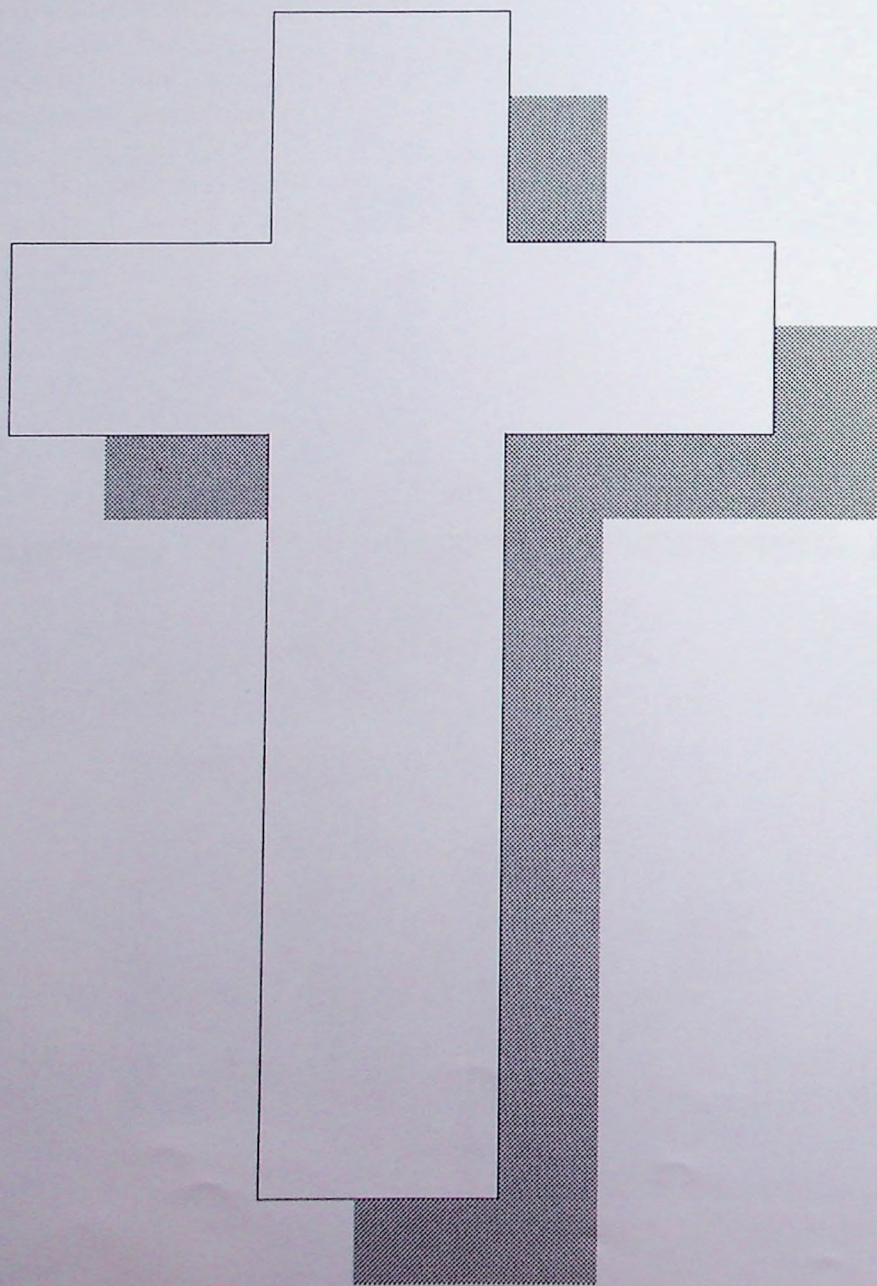

by Jill Ballard and Brad Richardson

Ad-Team hosts campus activities and assists in area church functions. Students apply for this ministry and are chosen by John Poulson and the Admissions office. Ad-Team consists of approximately twenty students who have a desire to work with youth. Some activities that this group helps with are Fall Festival of Faith, Crusade '96, Junior High Weekend, and numerous church lock-ins.

Campus Life

"In everything set them an example by doing what is good. In your teaching show integrity, seriousness and soundness of speech that cannot be condemned, so that those who oppose you may be ashamed because they have nothing bad to say about us."

Titus 2:7, 8, NIV

Three elements for Christian fellowship: food, fun, and friends! A group of friends enjoy one another's company. (From top to bottom) Keith Kephart, Kip Traynor, Christi Miner, Beth Mills, Travon Glover, Marilyn Huffman, Paige Wickwire, Eric Ward, and Shawn Castle.

Kenoyer Hall

Thank you, Pete and Lisa Smith and Devin and April Wendt, for being dorm supervisors this school year.

Rise and Shine. It looks as if Matt Glenn has a little too much time on his hands today. Of course, sleep is very essential here at MCC.

The graduates. Pam Lee, Michelle Goebel, and Renee Price take a break from studying to strike a pose for the camera. Even though they will be separated, they will always be friends because that's what friends are for.

Johnson Hall

Surprise, Surprise. Chris Reed looks a little shocked at the picture taker. But don't worry, Chris, you are doing fine. Keep up the good work.

You have got to be kidding me. Meadow Stahl shows Tonya Witt what the real answer is, but Tonya doesn't seem to be too happy about it. Does Meadow even realize how Tonya is reacting?

Graduates

Your years of schooling are now over. It's a proud moment for friends and family alike. The goal that you set has now been reached. Where do you go from here?

The first inclination is to sit back and rest a while, congratulating oneself a bit for having completed this milestone in life. It is a temptation to believe that the prize has been won, the goal has been reached, and all is finished.

Interestingly, the service which commemorates the completion of these years of schooling is generally called commencement, which implies not finishing but beginning. That's a good thought to ponder for a moment. What does one now do with all this education, expertise, and training? The Christian graduate should certainly use these good elements as an opportunity--not to end, but to begin life in earnest.

Paul realized that the Christian has the temptation, once redeemed, to sit back and take it easy as though everything has been accomplished. He shattered that idea by making it clear that he does not consider himself to have "arrived" at all. What better commitment could a Christian graduate make than to realize that one's life must be constant stewardship, always pressing forward, onward, and upward to do the work of Christ our mentor, our Savior, our King.

"I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus."

Music

"Speak to one another with psalms, hymns and spiritual songs. Sing and make music in your heart to the Lord, always giving thanks to God the Father for everything, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Ephesians 5:19, 20, NIV

Instrumental Ensemble, Inspiration Ringers, & Celebration Singers

By Mindi Hunt and Eric Aufdengarten

Music ensembles gather for their formal picture in Nichols Hall at Kansas State University. The theme of their program this year was "Out of the Darkness, into the Light."

The Instrumental Ensembles consist of three groups--Take Five, Manhattan Brass Quintet and Saved Soul. Take Five, a woodwind quintet, consists of two flutes, two saxophones, and a bassoon. This ensemble performs preludes, offertories, and communion meditations. The Brass Quintet is a new ensemble, consisting of two trumpets, a trombone, french horn, and tuba. Saved Soul, while specializing in jazz, also accompanies Celebration Singers. They also perform as their alter ego "Live Bait," providing contemporary Christian music for youth worship. Saved Soul consists of four to twelve musicians playing on a variety of instruments. The Instrumental Ensembles are directed by music professor Pete Miele.

Inspiration Ringers, an auditioned English handbell choir, has performed concert repertoire on its four and one-half octave Schulmerich handbells since 1972. This year, eleven students form Inspiration Ringers directed by music instructor Marsha Stevens.

Celebration Singers is MCC's concert ministry choir of 24 voices. It is an auditioned ensemble which presents music by a wide range of composers and in a variety of styles. Celebration Singers is directed by music professor Ruby Ann Poulson and accompanied by Mary Ann Littrell. The student director this year is Scott Wagner.

Music of all Sorts

I'm singing even though I'm not sure what! Singers work on the material for Spring Tour. One of the challenges of working in music is blending voice to achieve the director's interpretation. From left to right, back to front: Marilyn Huffman, Nicole Smith, Laurie Hoelscher, Michelle Barber, Eric Aufdengarten, Kyla Easterday, Amanda Bazil, Destine White, Yvonne Kafka, Eric Sanford, Chanda Underwood, Amy Ewoldson.

"Door knobs, candy, yellow fish, and brown fuzzy bread mold . . . What do they all have in common? I haven't the slightest idea, but if there is one thing I do know, it is that MCC's music department is the COOLEST!" says Jarad Garren.

In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Michael Kizzee is baptized by Pete Miele in a church in Oklahoma. Truly the angels and the tour group are singing this moment.

Make a funny face!! Wendy Jarratt, Scott Wagner, and Monica Pierce share with everyone their joy in the Lord. Or, are they just having a lot of fun with mirrors at the Kirkpatrick Center?

Triumphant Sound

Triumphant Sound (T. S.) is an auditioned music ensemble at MCC. Auditions are held each year for the next year's group. This year the group consists of nine students—eight singers and a sound man. T. S. travels throughout the Midwest with two programs. "For Future Generations" is this year's theme for the adult program, which is used in formal settings, such as banquets and Sunday morning worship. "Who's in the House?" is the youth program theme. T. S. has performed this program for Sunday school hours, youth conferences, and other gatherings of the young and young at heart. Laurin Hill is the director and choreographer; John Poulson is the producer; Laurin Hill and Ruby Ann Poulson put the programs together and arrange the music. The student director this year is Wendy Jarratt.

J.A.M.-Jesus And Me

A Corner Cafe Conquered for Christ. J.A.M. takes their music to the lost souls in the local coffee house. The new trend for espresso has opened a whole new area for students to reach out. Pictured above: Scott Wagner, Marsha Stevens, Tonya Pitts, Rustin Smith, Bo Jackson, Paige Brown, Ben Perry. In front, director Pete Miele.

J.A.M., also known as Jesus And Me, is a praise band designed to do just that--sing and play for our Savior. This group travels around the states, sharing the talents with which they are gifted. They play a variety of music from Pop to a touch of Rage'. Their purpose is to encourage people to get excited about the Lord they serve. They also want to remind the church that she can praise God thorough hymns to rock. Ben Perry explains, "I just want other piano players to know that they can be a part of a Christian band or do this for their own church." This group is a great representative of Manhattan Christian College.

Gospel Teams

Gospel teams are groups formed of and by the students to present Christ to the entire Kansas area through music, drama, puppets, preaching, or some such medium. They perform at local churches and organizations to share a glimpse of the message we want to share at Manhattan Christian College. "A Different View," "Unspoken Message," and "L.J.C.--Lovin' Jesus Christ" are the gospel teams formed this year.

Make us a prayer. Gospel teams also minister on campus. Unspoken Message performs at Fall Festival of Faith.

A Different View

A Different View is a drama team that ministers through various skits. Many of these skits are humorous, but deal with some serious issues that Christians face in everyday life. This group has had a great opportunity to help teens, preteens, and adults see a different view of life.

Places A Different View has performed!
Fall Festival, Colorado Springs, CO
University Christian Church, Manhattan KS.
Westlink Preteen Retreat, Wichita, KS
Westlink Christian Church, Wichita, KS
Northwest Christian Church, Wichita, KS
Christian Church, Anthony, KS

Christian music is a great ministry, but if you don't understand the words, the meaning is lost. Unspoken Message was started with that idea in mind. This gospel team does pantomime and dance to the message of Christian music. The team works together on the choreography so that it complements the music. Unspoken Message goes to various churches teaching the unspoken message of Jesus Christ and His love.

L.J.C.-Lovin' Jesus Christ

Music to all ears! L.J.C. was another gospel team with a great ministry. Cindy Armstead, Jeni Keeton, and Laurie Hoelscher are performing a song during one of their weekends out.

L.J.C. Schedule-Spring 1996
Feb 18-Salem United Meth. Ch, Bushton, KS

Feb 18-Trinity United Meth. Ch., Great Bend, KS
Feb 24-25-Burlington Chr. Ch., Burlington, KS
Mar 17-Trinity United Meth. Ch., Great Bend, KS
Apr 20-21-So. Hutch. C C, South Hutchinson, KS
Apr 28-Twins Assoc. Convention, Manhattan, KS
May 2-Chr. Women's Fell. Assoc., Herington, KS
June 9-Business & Professional Women Convention, Manhattan, KS

What started one evening as a sing-a-long, blossomed into a gospel team. Laurie Hoelscher and Jeni Keeton were singing along with a Point of Grace song when Cindy Armstead popped in and started singing, too. Before they knew it, they were singing in three-part harmony. They couldn't believe how well their voices blended! After singing together a couple times, Laurie, Jeni, and Cindy decided they wanted to become a gospel team for the spring semester. Jeni came up with the name "L.J.C.," the first initials of their first names. But they wanted it to stand for a broader title. Paige Wickwire came up with "Lovin' Jesus Christ." L.J.C. has shared their music with several churches and organizations. Rachael Warren helps the group by serving as sound person.

Masterworks Chorale

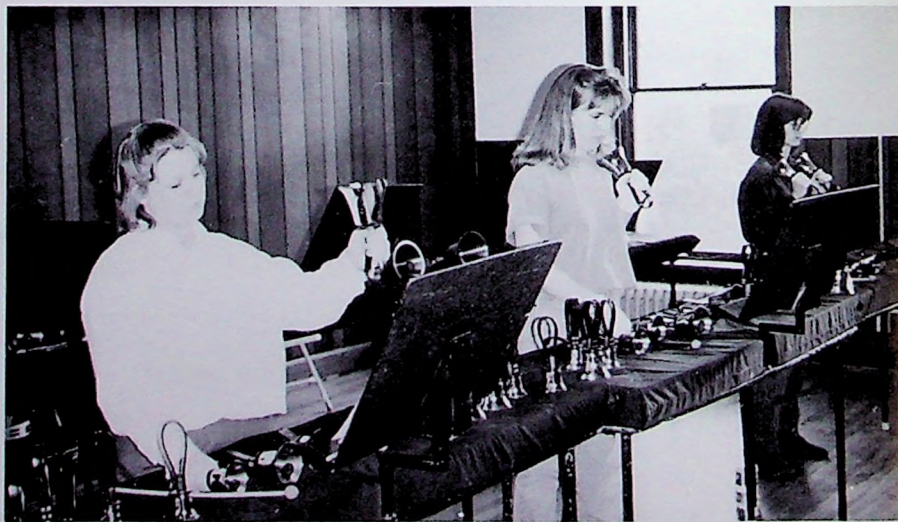

Flinthills Masterworks Chorale is a non-audition choral group that involves students, faculty, and staff as well as people in the community. The chorale performs once a semester and sings a variety of classical pieces. This year's director is Cherie Caulley, with accompanist Mary Ann Litrell on piano and organ. Scott Caulley also accompanied one piece playing cello.

Pay attention closely. Here comes the fast part! Flinthills Masterworks Chorale performs its Christmas program at St. Thomas Moore in Manhattan, Kansas.

Chapel Bells

Chapel Bells is a beginning choir designed to teach handbells. The class meets once a week to work on perfecting handbell ringing techniques and reading music. They also have one or two performances a semester. Rhonda DeVinney says, "It is a fun way to learn to play bells in a nonthreatening environment." This group gives students an opportunity to meet people, learn a new instrument and have a good time!

Ring a Ling a Ding! Felicity Dunagan, Rhonda DeVinney, and Marsha Stevens practice bells together at Joliffe Hall.

Recital & Music Preparation

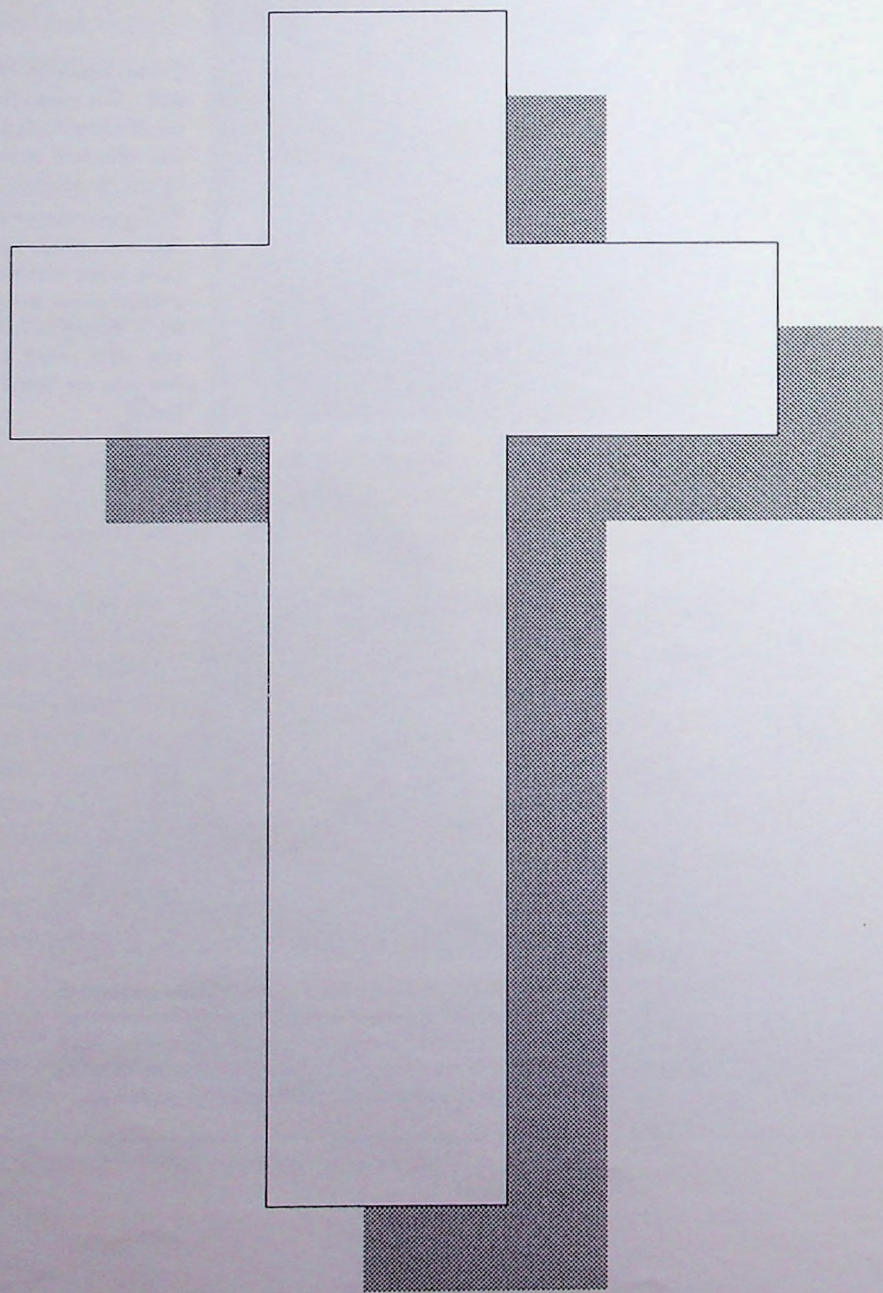

These teachers clean up pretty well. The music faculty at Manhattan Christian College gather for a picture after their recital at First Baptist Church in Manhattan.

"I'll marry the man today!" Theresa Taylor sings this line from Guys and Dolls at her junior recital. Theresa is a music major at MCC, and is majoring in history at Kansas State University. Also giving their junior recitals this year are Tonya Pitts and Wendy Jarratt.

Uh-Oh! What's the next line? Scott Wagner prepares to sing his senior recital at First Baptist Church. Two ensembles from Celebration Singers joined Scott in two songs. Each music major is required to present a junior recital after the sophomore year and a senior recital prior to graduation.

Athletics

"Do you not know that in a race all the runners run, but only one gets the prize: Run in such a way as to get the prize. Everyone who competes in the games goes into strict training. They do it to get a crown that will not last; but we do it to get a crown that will last forever. Therefore I do not run like a man running aimlessly; I do not fight like a man beating the air. No, I beat my body and make it my slave so that after I have preached to others, I myself will not be disqualified for the prize."

I Corinthians 9:24-27, NIV

Home games attract a lot of fans. MCC soccer fans enjoy the game while soaking up some sun.

En Yo Phace! Jamie Venardos, Renee Carter, Todd Kelly, Kathleen Demorest, Brian Rixon, Eric Ward, and Jarad Garren model their volleyball t-shirts.

Is Craig hogging the ball, or are Renee and Christi spectators? Craig Dodge, Renee Carter, and Christi Miner have fun working on their racquetball skills.

There's no place like "home." Christi Miner patiently waits for her teammate to hit her home. Will John hit it or will Rachel catch it? John Potts takes his turn at bat, while Rachel McVay awaits the pitch.

Check out that follow through! Lance Coffman pitches for one of the intramural softball games.

Practicing for his role in the Nutcracker Suite. Austin Bazil practices his techniques before a softball game.

Is the smile because of his sweet treat or because of his sweet-heart? After the intramural volleyball championship game, Jason Garren and Diana Lewis enjoy a root beer float provided by Ned.

Drowning their sorrows. Winners and losers alike enjoyed the floats and fellowship after the volleyball tournament.

Pray all you want, but I'm the ump. Shawn Condra anticipates the joys of umpiring.

Volleyball

by Jill Ballard

Time for a pep talk. During a time out Coach Theresa Wilson gives some advice to her players. Theresa will be graduating in May with a B.S. in Bible/Educ. Min.

Serve it my way...I'm ready. Anticipating the opponent's serve, Pam Lee prepares herself by assuming the proper defensive stance.

I hope that ball drops soon so I can hit it. Caught in the middle of her jump, Tina Williams prepares to spike the ball.

The new layered look. After taking the traditional team picture, the ladies decided to go for a new look.

Out for a kill. Reaching high, Tami Davies follows through on her spike.

Ready and waiting for the serve. Melanie Allen, like all other volleyball players, knows that mental preparation is as valuable as physical ability.

Spread eagle. Giving it her all, Jamie Venardos dives to the floor attempting to save the ball.

Soccer

Okay guys, this time I will win the game of chicken because I'm the tallest. Jeff Isaacs leads his teammates in stretching, and has a little too much fun.

One more step and I'll get that little white thing. Scott Thomson races his opponent toward the ball during a game against Nebraska Christian College.

Hey come back here! You're not suppose to run away from me. Mike Kelly chases after the soccer ball during a game against York College. The Crusaders played York College twice this season, and defeated them both times.

Boys, you better not mess with her. Christiane Marshall proves that soccer is not just a man's sport anymore. Although Christiane was not allowed to play in conference games, she did participate in non-league games.

Why won't this guy leave me alone? Using some fancy footwork, Charlie Spencer keeps the ball away from his opponent. Such footwork helped earn Charlie a spot on the All Conference team. (photo by Dr. Paddock)

With these long legs I can out-run anyone. Using his long legs to his advantage, Jeff Isaacs breaks away from his opponent and heads toward the goal.

Tradition, tradition, tradition. What would a MCC soccer game be without the singing of the school's alma mater? Scott Thomson inherited the honor of leading this distinguished group.

Cheerleading

by Jill Ballard

Go Big Blue! During a time out the cheerleaders lead the crowd in a quick cheer. This year the cheerleaders worked hard on getting the crowd more involved with their cheers. And to any observer it was obvious that they succeeded at improving school spirit.

MCC Get Up! To get the crowd standing and involved in the game, Tammy Bayless and Amy Seehorn elevate Bonnie Beers and lead a popular MCC cheer. Although this cheer was technically retired, the crowd found it hard to give it up.

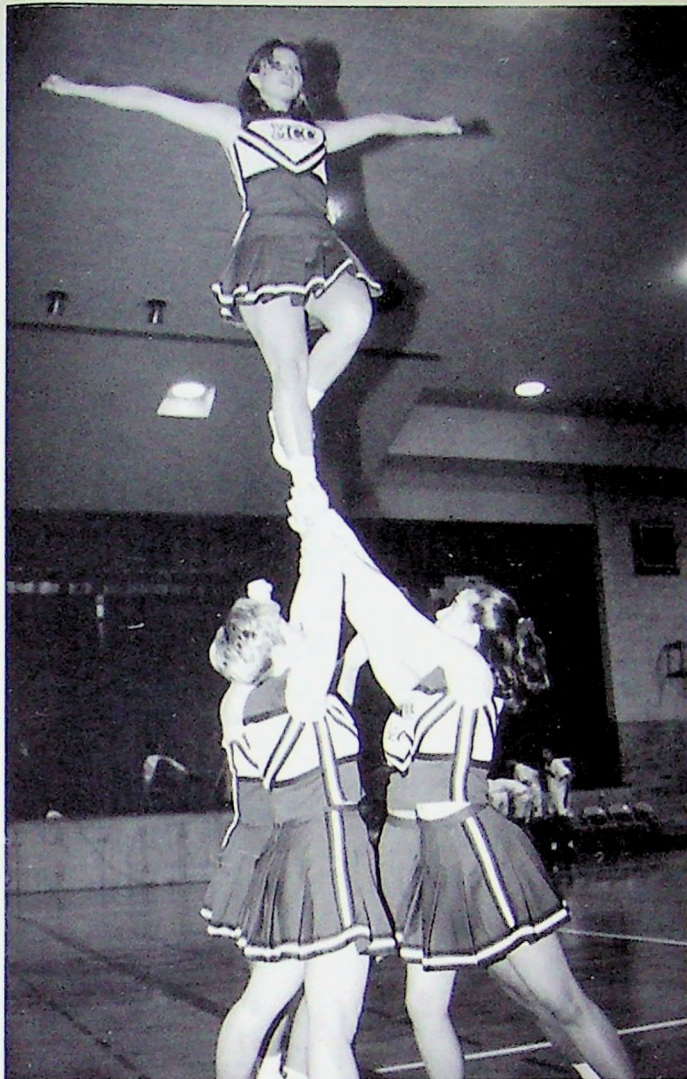

Climbing your way up. Preparing to do a front flip, Bonnie Beers braces herself as JoAnn Callen and Tammy Bayless anticipate her jump. For safety reasons Amy Seehorn and Candi Swickard stand to the side acting as spotters.

Just how high can they go? Adding variety to general stunts, the cheerleaders put two stunts together and came up with this new formation of JoAnn Callen in a shoulder stand, and Bonnie Beers in an extension lift.

MCC's very own stunt women. A new stunt to this year's squad was the "torch." Even though it was new, it became one of the most successfully executed and most popular of all the stunts.

Up, up, up and away she goes. In the middle of a basket toss Bonnie Beers maintains her form, while JoAnn Callen, Tammy Bayless, Felicity Dunagan, and Amy Seehorn prepare to catch her.

Trust and teamwork are the keys. This year's cheerleaders took advantage of the time outs to perform their stunts for the crowd. One of the squad's goals was to try to involve each member in the stunts.

"This year we worked really hard to involve the crowd in our cheers and improve school spirit. We also reached our goal of executing more stunts, which took a lot of patience, hard work, and dedication. Overall, we had a great year."

Go ahead, Maria, I'll take care of her. Genesis Ferch sets a screen for Maria Darsie to dribble on past her defender.

Where'd the ball go? Tami Davies, Melanie Allen, Kami Umbarger, and Tina Williams get ready for the rebound.

Help, my foot is stuck on some gum! Genesis Ferch looks for an open teammate during a game against Nebraska Christian College.

Maya slaloms around her opponent. After knocking down her opponent, Maya Needham drives towards the basket.

Don't touch it; it's my ball! Tami Davies protects the basketball as she comes to a stop.

Candidate for Triumphant Sound? Maria Darsie displays proper follow through technique after shooting a free throw.

Hold on, the referee will blow his whistle soon. Maya Needham and Tina Williams scramble for possession of the ball.

The women's basketball team finished the season with an overall record of 4-14, and a conference mark of 3-9. The ladies finished in a tie for fifth place in the regular season, and at the conference tournament they finished in sixth place. Sophomore Maya Needham was selected to the All-Conference second team. Needham led the ladies in scoring averaging 13.7 points, and Tami Davies led in rebounding with a per game average of 8.4.

These four look as if they are in trouble, rather than recipients of an award. Jeff Isaacs, Scott Thomson, Jeremy Eubanks, and Melanie Allen receive Academic Achievement Awards. To qualify, a student-athlete must: be at least a sophomore, have a cumulative GPA of 3.25 or higher, and finish a full varsity season.

Now Heath has two pens with which he can sign autographs. Heath Hostetter receives his gift for three years participation. First-year athletes receive a certificate; second year, a paper weight; fourth year, a plaque. I just want to say that I think that Shawn Condra has done a phenomenal job this year. Rick Wright congratulates Shawn for being named coach of the year.

Do they think I will take notes in class now that I have these new pens? Clint Stoppel, Ryan Sperry, and Austin Bazil are honored third-year basketball players. You never know "who" Ned will serve next! Ned Price carves up a beautiful prime rib to honor the MCC athletes. I can't believe you think it's that funny. Tina Williams and Melanie Allen share some pre-banquet laughter.

You'd think after all these awards, they would have learned how to spell my name. Jeff Isaacs checks out his Athletic Award of Excellence.

Congratulations, Jeff!

Having named you Jeff and knowing that it means "God's peace" should have been a clue as to what vocation you would be called. We are very proud that you answered His call to commit your life to serving and ministering in His name.

The Lord has given you many "gifts" to help you minister to young people. Keep your heart and mind open to God and He will continue to guide you in making the right decisions in your life.

You and Jennifer are in our prayers as you begin a "new chapter" in your lives, loving, working, and ministering, to help others learn about God. We are very thankful to have you in our lives; we all love you very much.

Terry,

We were very concerned when you had to go to the Gulf War. We prayed that the Lord would keep you safe, which He did. You returned a changed person, one stronger in the Lord. Now the Lord is leading you to work in missions. We are very proud of you, son.

Love,

Dearest Jill,

You've always kidded us that, as child #4, you were a mistake. We guarantee you that you are a very wonderful part of God's plan and no mistake. He knew we'd need "our baby" to bring us love, joy and comfort in our "old age." We are all so very proud of the woman you have become and of your accomplishments, and we wish you happiness, contentment and God's richest blessings in all that you do. (We just pray God allows you to find all that not too far from home!)

We love you,
Mom, Dad,
Jeff, Jana
(and John too)

"In everything you do, put God first, and He will direct you and crown your efforts with success."

Proverbs 3:6

Congratulations, Tanya,

We are very proud of you and the accomplishments you have made in obtaining your youth ministry degree from MCC and your elementary teaching degree from K State.

May God guide you in your decisions and direct you in the work he wishes you to do.

Love

Mom, Dad, and Cam

"And this is my prayer: that your love may abound more and more in knowledge and depth of insight, so that you may be able to discern what is best and may be pure and blameless until the day of Christ, filled with the fruit of righteousness that comes through Jesus Christ--to the glory and praise of God."

Colossians 3:23

With much love,
Mom, Dad, Jeff, Becky, Hannah, Rachel,

Dear Traci,

Back when this picture was taken you were so cute and such a delight, and we were very proud of you. We have watched you grow into a bright, sensitive, caring, and beautiful young lady and we are still very proud of you.

We love you and congratulate you for your outstanding academic successes.

May God bless you and Bert as you continue your life together.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Son, Jeff Aenk, God has granted you
